As part of the course curriculum, the Department of Tourism and Travel Management, Lady Keane College, Shillong is required to take the students on an experiential local fieldtrip during the odd semester session. This is aimed at enhancing the learning process, tourism knowledge and skills of the students. Therefore, the department has taken the students to Mawlyngbna Village which is situated in East Khasi Hills District, Meghalaya. Mawlyngbna Village is a popular destination known for adventure tourism. The students have gained knowledge and experience when they visited this village.

The following were the objectives of the fieldtrip:

- To give students a platform to interact with the local community.
- To familiarize the students with the basics skills of adventure tourism.
- To provide an experiential learning opportunity to the students.
- To expose them on the opportunity of local entrepreneurship.

Learning outcomes:

- The students became familiar with the tourism resources in the village and they were able to learn and document the potential tourism products which the village can promote to the tourists.
- The students were able to learn practically about adventure tourism practices in the village and the role of the community in adventure tourism development
- The students were able to learn about the basic adventure tourism skills and management
