

Sociology Department

Programme Outcome:

- The sociological knowledge and skills that will enable them to think decisively and creatively about society and social issues.
- Understanding basic concepts and theoretical viewpoints in sociology
- Developing broad knowledge of the theory and methods of the discipline and in-depth knowledge of a specific topic.
- Preparation for careers in teaching, social work and other social sciences, government service at local, state and national levels and related occupations and also provide training for post graduation work in Sociology,
- Understanding in depth different areas within sociology, and encourage sound comprehension and critical thinking; problem solving , skilful communication, encouragement of successful interactions among people of diverse racial and ethnic backgrounds
- Researching and analyzing data- through collection of both qualitative and quantitative data collection
- The readings, classroom discussions and activities will cultivate a sense of involvement as citizens committed to making a better society.

Course Outcome :

Course Name	Course Outcome
Paper I and II INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY	The course intends to introduce and familiarise the students to basic concepts in Sociology, its origin, nature and scope. The students will also learn the relationship of Sociology with other disciplines. It helps students to be able to define, understand the meaning of, give examples, illustrate interrelationships, and also the relevance of the concepts like Culture ,Social Groups, Social change, Status and Role, Institutions, Socialization, Social Stratification, Social Processes, Social Control, Social structure, etc
Paper III Indian Society	Students will understand the empirical realities of the Indian society and the development of Sociology in India. The course will enable the students to understand the various aspects of Caste and Tribal societies in the country.
Paper IV : Sociological Thinkers	Students will be introduced to classical thinkers in Sociology. It would help students to understand the theoretical formulations and arguments provided by these thinkers and develop insights to examine social phenomena.
Paper IV Sociology of Family and Kinship	Students will be introduced to the institution of family, marriage and kinship. It intends to familiarised the students with basic conceptual understanding of these three institutions and expose the students to understanding of particular kinship systems as found in North-east

	India.
Paper V : Economic Sociology	This course intends to examine the interplay between economy and society. The students will learn the sociological approaches to understanding economic phenomena , economic systems prevalent in the modern world. They will also learn agrarian situations in India .
Paper VI Sociology of religion	The focus of this course is to provide explanation towards the understanding of the institution of religion and its functions in society. The students will be familiarised about the existence of religious organisations as well as religious movements in national regional context.
Paper VII Political Sociology	This course intends to examine the interface between polity and society. Students will learn and be exposed to the various dimensions of Political Sociology such as political systems, elites, and political parties.
Paper VIII : Research Methodology	Students will gain understanding about social research. The students will learn about the various principles of scientific method and its application in the discipline of Sociology.