1. About the trip

Name: Field Trip cum Experiential Learning

Category: Local Trip

Place: Kdonghulu Village

Date: 25th April 2024

Number of students: 103

Faculty: 4

The field survey aims at giving students an insight on the tourism trends and simultaneously expose and brief them on the actual scenario of the industry in the state. These subject activities proposed are designed to provide real time engagement and insight on various activities related with the subjects. The proposal has separate activities for each papers, however, to reduce the cost and time of organizing and preparing the curriculum, the Department decided to conduct one field survey only for all the even semesters in each academic session.

2. Objectives of the Trip

1. To give them an exposure on tourism resources of the state.
2. To give them opportunity to interact with the locals.
3. To give them insight on tourism resources in Kdonghulu and the involvement of villagers to promote tourism.
4. To interacting and interviewing the locals involved in "EriWeave"- women who are engaged in cultivation and weaving and producing artifacts and apparels using eri silk threads.
5. To boost their self-confidence and understanding on ways to formulate and device business prospects related to eri silk cultivation and tourism.

3. Learning outcome from the trip

The trip has given students a lot of positive outcomes through the interaction with residents of kdonghulu to know about Eri silk cultivation and weaving and also about its rich history. The exposure they got from the trip has also given them an opportunity to learnt about the various natural resources of the area and particularly the involvement of the villagers in promoting eri silk as a prime product of the place and incorporate that into tourism product.

1. They gained insight on various tourism resources.
2. Involvement of local communities in tourism promotion.
3. Implementation of innovative ideas in promoting places by local stakeholders.
4. To create a unique selling proposition out of available resources and differentiate itself from other destinations/attractions to explore and manifest business opportunities.
5. Sustainable promotion of tourism.
